Subject: REALTOR Priority - SUPPORT HB 211

Dear Representative LaTourette,

As a REALTOR, and member of the Ohio REALTORS, I am asking for your support to bring House Bill 211 - our top legislative priority for 2018 - to the floor for a vote. House Bill 211 has passed the House Economic Development Commerce and Labor Committee by a 12-2 margin. House Bill 211 proposes much-needed consumer protections in the home buying process.

Home inspectors remain the only unlicensed actor in the home buying process. Their inspection report often serves as the final say in what is undoubtedly the largest financial investment a consumer will make in their lifetime. House Bill 211 simply establishes basic, common-sense standards for education and licensing of inspectors. More importantly, it provides multiple avenues for existing inspectors to continue their business operations.

Your vote in support of this bill will ensure that when a consumer hires a home inspector, the inspection is being done by a qualified inspector with the knowledge and background to provide a quality inspection report. HB 211 is supported by both REALTORS and the Ohio Chapter of the American Society of Home Inspectors.

We ask for your SUPPORT of House Bill 211.

Sincerely,

Jessica Hopkins

Senate Activity for Tuesday, April 10, 2018

Energy & Natural Resources

- HB 225 OIL GAS WELLS (Thompson, A.) To modify the law governing idle and orphaned oil and gas wells. (SCHEDULED BUT NOT HEARD; 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)
- SB 257 SPORTING LICENSURE (Uecker, J., O'Brien, S.) To make changes to the laws governing hunting and fishing. (REPORTED (See separate story); 2nd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

Subscribers Note: For full testimony see the committee's website under April 10.

Public Utilities

- HB 422 WATER SEWER ACQUISITIONS (Ginter, T., Rogers, J.) To govern acquisitions of municipal water-works and sewage disposal system companies by certain larger nonmunicipal water-works or sewage disposal system companies. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Sponsors told the committee their plan presents an "out of the box" approach to address the lack of funding for municipal water infrastructure investment.

"Currently, the American Society of Civil Engineers estimates that Ohio will require more than $12 billion to be invested in water system and more than $14 billion in wastewater system infrastructure over the next 20 years and most communities struggle to fund this investment," Rep. Tim Ginter (R-Salem) said.

In response, he and Rep. John Rogers (D-Mentor-on-the-Lake) are putting forth their legislation to encourage large private sector utilities to support infrastructure replacements and improvements.

The legislation in part is meant to more accurately determine property values for municipal water-works and sewage disposal systems, which sponsors said has up until this point served as a "roadblock" for such partnerships.

"Together, we see this approach as a means of providing heightened operational and financial expertise with access to capital resources while ensuring more stringent regulatory compliance," Rep. Rogers said. "The long term intent is to provide a more sustainable service with reliable plant operations, while protecting our water supplies for consumers." Similar proposals have passed in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois and several other states, the sponsors said.

- HB 478 WIRELESS SERVICES (Smith, R., LaTourette, S.) To modify the law regarding wireless service and the placement of small cell wireless facilities in the public way. (SUBSTITUTE (See separate story); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments)

Governor's Appointments: The committee recommended full Senate approval of the appointment of Beverlyn Johns to the Consumers' Counsel Governing Board.

Subscribers Note: For full testimony see the committee's website under April 10.

Judiciary

HB 309 PARENTAL RIGHTS (Gonzales, A., Rezabek, J.) To generally prohibit a person's blindness from being used to deny or limit custody, parenting time, visitation, adoption, or service as a guardian or foster caregiver, regarding a minor. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Rep. Anne Gonzales (R-Westerville) said in sponsor testimony the bill is designed to combat preconceived notions and biases surrounding blind parents.

"Because of these biases and attitudes, children of blind parents are removed from their parent's care unnecessarily or are restricted from enjoying meaningful time with their parents," she said.

"The need for this legislation was brought to our attention by the fourteen other states that have passed bills with similar content. It is necessary that the Legislature adhere to the Americans with Disabilities Act and respect the due process and equal protection of blind parents and prospective blind parents in child welfare, foster care, family law, and adoption."

HB 366 CHILD SUPPORT (Gavarone, T.) To make changes to the laws governing child support. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

The measure will "provide critical and necessary updates" to child support guidelines, Rep. Theresa Gavarone, (R-Bowling Green) said in sponsor testimony.

"Many of the changes directly address issues that have been historically problematic in the way we set child support orders in Ohio," she said. "These revisions strike a delicate balance between the interests of multiple stakeholders, and the components are all meant to work together to achieve the result of child support orders based on the ability to pay, with the ultimate goal of consistent, reliable payments of child support to families."

The measure updates economic tables, includes a parenting time adjustment, modernizes health insurance and cash medical guidelines and creates a childcare credit cap.

HB 38 AGGRAVATED MURDER (Greenspan, D.) To provide that purposely causing the death of a first responder or military member is aggravated murder and to require an offender to serve the prison term imposed for felonious assault on a peace officer, investigator, first responder, or military member consecutively to the prison term imposed for any related offense. (CONTINUED; 4th Hearing-All testimony)

Mike Weinman, director of government affairs at the Fraternal Order of Police of Ohio, said retired police officers deserve the same protections as active officers.

"One cannot deny that threats against officers occur," he said. "And we all know of someone, directly or indirectly, who can be all consumed with rage and hatred, looking to even some imaginary score."

Pat Lovejoy, vice president of the North Ohio Fire Fighters, said in recent years firefighters have been purposefully targeted when responding to fires.

"As those who protect the public, we are simply asking to receive the same protections that law enforcement personnel receive," he said.

Bill Houk, president of the Ohio Association of Fire Chiefs, echoed those sentiments.

"The inclusion of firefighters, EMTs, and members of the military is a needed change as law enforcement officers are not the only people that put themselves in harm's way on a daily basis, nor are they the only people targeted," he said.

U.S. Marshal Pete Elliot likened the measure to hate crime laws.

"Hate crime laws are used to protect many groups in our society and attacks against law enforcement officers and first responders would certainly fall under the definition of a hate crime: A prejudice-motivated crime which occurs when a perpetrator targets a victim because of his or her membership in a certain social group or race," he said.

HB 96 SEX OFFENSES (Hughes, J.) To increase the penalty for sexual imposition when the offender previously has been convicted or pleaded guilty three or more times of any of several specified sex offenses and to enhance the penalty for disorderly conduct involving voluntary intoxication when the offender has previously been convicted of the offense three or more times.

Rep. Jim Hughes (R-Columbus) said in sponsor testimony that the measure is identical to a Senate bill from the previous General Assembly.

"This legislation aims at addressing an issue that is happening with concerning frequency. According to prosecutors and law enforcement from across our state, Ohio citizens are being touched or groped against their will by offenders who repeat their egregious behavior over and over," he said. "In fact, there was a recent incident in Franklin County in which a serial offender who has a repeat pattern of targeting women in public places such as on COTA buses and would grope them."

Under the proposal, a third conviction for sexual imposition would allow for a jail sentence of up to one year.

SB 138 INMATE SEARCHES (Eklund, J.) To authorize a corrections officer to cause a body cavity search to be conducted, to establish separate rules and restrictions for conducting strip searches, and to limit the right of any person to commence a civil action for a violation of the law governing body cavity searches and strip searches to violations related to body cavity searches.

A substitute bill offered by sponsoring Sen. John Eklund (R-Chardon) was accepted. Among the changes, it would make a strip search at a local detention facility discretionary, he said. Those in the general population of a county jail would still be subjected to mandatory strip searches.

SB 177 QUALIFIED IMMUNITY (Lehner, P.) To expand the circumstances in which qualified immunity from civil liability applies with respect to volunteer health care services provided to indigent and uninsured persons. (CONTINUED; 2nd Hearing-Proponent)

Lori Kershner of the Opportunity Solutions Project said the bill could result in $60 million in free health care to poor Ohioans.

"Although the number of uninsured Ohioans has decreased in recent years, nearly 800,000 remain uninsured. Many more, even those with insurance, live in medically underserved communities or struggle to receive the care they need because of administrative red tape," she said in written testimony.

A similar program in Florida has resulted in 2.3 million free medical visits worth $1.3 billion, Ms. Kershner said.

"It's time for Ohio to follow suit and support and incentivize health care professionals who want to serve low-income Ohioans, while providing safeguards for patients against neglect and misconduct," she wrote. "This common-sense policy will have a significant positive impact and will unleash the powers of Volunteer Care in our state."

SB 180 FIREARM LAWS (Uecker, J., Hottinger, J.) To assign to the prosecution the burden of disproving a self-defense or related claim, to expand the locations at which a person has no duty to retreat before using force under both civil and criminal law, and to modify the Concealed Handgun Licensing Law regarding a licensee's duty to keep the licensee's hands in plain sight, the penalties for illegally carrying a concealed firearm or improperly handling firearms in a motor vehicle, and the posting of warning signs regarding the possession of weapons on specified premises. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 4th Hearing-All testimony)

SB 208 WEAPON POSSESSION (Terhar, L.) To allow a law enforcement officer or investigator, whether on or off duty, to carry a weapon on certain premises open to the public. (REPORTED-AMENDED); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

Before hearing testimony, several amendments offered by Chairman Sen. Kevin Bacon (R-Minerva Park) were accepted. Among other things they would allow law enforcement officers to still carry a weapon if they are consuming alcohol as part of their duties.

Sen. Bacon said the amendment is designed to protect those that are undercover.

Other amendments would require an off-duty officer to also have identification while carrying a firearm, and allow a department to bar officers from carrying their service weapons while off duty.

Theodore Owens, vice president of investigations for the Ohio Association of Security & Investigation Services said in written testimony that "soft targets are now becoming a focus to those active aggressors, domestic and international terrorists."

"Having Ohio's law enforcement community armed and able to thwart those such attacks on-duty or off-duty is a step in the right direction where ever they may be. However, some retail establishments, private property businesses, and other entities open to the public still falsely believe that they are impervious to the threats of today's society," he wrote.

"They still believe in the notion of placing a plastic sign up prohibiting firearms or other dangerous weapons on their window will protect them from any harm. Simply put ladies and gentlemen, it won't."

SB 231 ■ OFFENDER DATABASE (Gardner, R.) To provide for a violent offender database, require violent offenders to enroll in the database, and name those provisions of the act "Sierah's Law;" to modify the membership and duties of the Ex-Offender Reentry Coalition and eliminate its repeal; to require halfway houses to use the single validated risk assessment tool for adult offenders that the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction has developed; and to provide that the notice of release from prison of specified serious offense offenders that is given to sheriffs is to be the same as that provided to prosecuting attorneys and eliminate the notice to sheriffs regarding pardons, commutations, paroles, and transitional control transfers of offenders.
(REPORTED; 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

Gary Daniels, chief lobbyist at the ACLU of Ohio, raised several concerns with the bill, including whether the database would be available to the public.

"The ACLU of Ohio is against SB231 whether the database is private or publicly accessible," he said. "But, if this bill is amended to explicitly make this database searchable by the public, numerous other problems arise regarding the effect of such registries on the successful reintegration into society for those who paid their debt to society and left prison."

Mr. Daniels also said he envisions the registry expanding if made law.

"These lists start more modestly, then expand in scope and size," he said. "DNA databases are an excellent example. They were once sold to legislatures and the public as only for the most serious felony convictions. Then all felony convictions. Then, like in Ohio, all felony arrests. Now we see proposals to expand it to certain misdemeanor convictions."

Sponsoring Sen. Randy Gardner (R-Bowling Green) clarified that the database could only be viewed by the public inside the confines of a sheriff's department.

Niki Clum, of the Office of the Ohio Public Defender, said in written testimony the information available in the database does not include context.

"There will be no explanation that the individual on the list may have only been 18-years-old when they committed the offense and that they spent significant time in prison working hard to improve and educate themselves," she wrote.

"Regardless of the circumstances surrounding an individual's admission to the database, being on the list will cause the public to assume those people should be feared and loathed. These types of misconceptions can cause loss of employment and housing opportunities, which continue to punish not only the offender, but also their family."

Sen. Cecil Thomas (D-Cincinnati) said he is concerned that the bill could be used to find information about an alleged perpetrator and commit an act of retaliation.

"If you have a name you can find out where that person lives," Sen. Gardner responded.

"That's not a challenge."

SB 242 ■ WEAPON MAKING (LaRose, F.) To eliminate the prohibition against manufacturing, possessing for sale, selling, or furnishing certain weapons other than firearms or dangerous ordnance. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Sponsoring Sen. Frank LaRose (R-Hudson) said under current law it is legal to own a spring-loaded knife but not to manufacture one.

"This archaic law is preventing Ohio businesses from reaching their full potential," he said.

He said several other states have repealed similar laws.

Sen. Peggy Lehner (R-Kettering) asked Sen. LaRose about his repeated use of the phrase "archaic" to describe the current law.

He said in Colorado he traced a similar law back to the time in which the musical West Side Story was popular and lawmakers reacted due to their thinking that knives were "the weapons of choice for various street gangs."

Finance

HB 353 UNCLAIMED FUNDS (Reineke, B.) To exempt certain open-loop prepaid cards, closed-loop prepaid cards, and rewards cards from the Unclaimed Funds Law. (CONTINUED; 2nd Hearing-Proponent)

Eric Gillett, chairman and CEO of Sutton Bank in Attica, urged the panel to support the bill, saying the bank engages is involved in closed-loop prepaid card systems. He said, however, the institution is unable to offer a competitive open-loop prepaid card system due to Ohio law that requires unused funds to be transferred to Unclaimed funds after five years of continuous inactivity.

Given the status of the law, aggregators and program managers choose not to partner with Ohio financial institutions. "They choose instead to deliver the economic benefits of their product to institutions subject to the laws of a state like South Dakota that does not require institutions to remit unused open-loop gift card funds to the state," he said. "This fact continues to be shared with us when we attempt to attract open-loop gift card programs." He said passage would give Ohio institutions the ability to create jobs in that open loop card field. Beyond that, he said the bill wouldn't impact customers or have any notable impact on the unclaimed funds balance.

Dustin Holfinger of the Ohio Bankers League also urged support for the bill. He said the bill would make Ohio financial institutions more competitive with entities in other states that don't have the requirement for open-loop cards to revert to unclaimed funds after a set amount of time.

SB 116 MILITARY TRANSFERS (LaRose, F., Williams, S.) To permit persons who quit work to accompany the person's spouse on a military transfer to be eligible for unemployment compensation benefits. (REPORTED (No testimony); 2nd Hearing-All testimony-Possible vote)

SB 135 VOTING EQUIPMENT (LaRose, F.) To make supplemental operating appropriations for the FY 2018-FY 2019 biennium and supplemental capital appropriations for the FY 2017-FY 2018 biennium to implement a voting machine and equipment acquisition program. (REPORTED-AMENDED (No testimony); 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments)

Sen. Michael Skindell (D-Lakewood) amended the bill to require equal bipartisan representation on the Voting Machine Advisory Committee. The amendment also ensures representation from people representing counties of different population levels.

Chair Sen. Scott Oelslager (R-N. Canton) won support for an amendment to clarify that funds in the bill intended to reimburse counties for prior recent voting machine purposes would be released after receiving approval of the Controlling Board.

SB 246 STUDENT REMOVAL (Lehner, P., Manning, G.) To enact the "SAFE Act" to revise the procedures for emergency removal of a student, to prohibit certain suspensions and expulsions of students in grades pre- kindergarten through three, to require each public school to implement a positive behavior intervention and supports framework in accordance with state standards, and to make an appropriation. (CONTINUED; 4th Hearing-All testimony)

Scott DiMauro, vice president of the Ohio Education Association, testified in support, saying the bill would limit out-of-school suspensions and expulsions for students in pre-K through third grade. The measure, he said, is in line with an OEA legislative policy.

He said nearly half of suspensions involving young students involved disruptive and disobedient behavior, adding that exclusionary discipline tends to be ineffective and doesn't improve student behavior.

"It also is shown to attribute to a series of adverse consequences later in life, including academic failure, incarceration, and other social and academic issues," he said.

Mr. DiMauro added that the bill includes $2 million to help schools implement the policy.

Sen. Bill Coley (R-Liberty Twp.) questioned why school districts themselves - rather than lawmakers in Columbus - can't adopt their own policies on the issue.

Mr. DiMauro said evidence shows that the suspensions are a systemic problem, and added that the state has a responsibility to make sure students receive a high quality education.

Susan Lewis Kaylor of the St. Vincent Family Center also backed the bill, which she said would get students positive intervention and support. She said young students who deal with adverse situations at home can be disruptive in school, and added that excluding them from school only returns them to difficult situations where they might not get guidance they need.

SB 271 SPORTS EVENTS (Kunze, S., Eklund, J.) To remove limitations on the amount of sports events grants that may be awarded in a fiscal year or for a specific grant, and to fund the grant program by diverting state sales tax receipts to a custodial fund administered by the Director of Development Services. (CONTINUED; 1st Hearing-Sponsor)

Sen. John Eklund (R-Charidon) said the bill would drop the limits on the amount of funds that could be awarded for sports events grants. He said it is his goal to establish a permanent grant fund to help the state attract major sporting events.

"Only counties, cities or local organizing committees - which must be a non-profit - are eligible to receive any portion of the grant funds," he said. "No professional sports team, organization or leagues are eligible to receive any funding from the program. The fund would allow local organizing committees to bid for major events with the knowledge that money will be there to cover expenses."

The sponsor said the competition to host major sporting events is fierce, adding that 34 states have some incentive system to draw sporting events. The bill, he said, is needed to help the state continue to bid on key events that have a significant economic benefit for Ohio.

Governor's Appointments: The panel also recommended confirmation of the governor's appointments of Megan Cremeans and Zachary Haines, Miami University Board of Trustees; Iris Martinez Juergens, Central State University Board of Trustees and Kathy Maguschak, Eastern Gateway Community College Board of Trustees.

Subscribers note: Full testimony is available on the committee's website under April 10. Health, Human Services & Medicaid

HB 111 MENTAL HEALTH COMMITMENTS (Carfagna, R., Ryan, S.) To authorize certain advanced practice registered nurses to have a person involuntarily transported to a hospital for a mental health examination. (CONTINUED-AMENDED; 4th Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments & vote)

The committee accepted a pair of amendments offered by Chairman Sen. Dave Burke (R-Marysville).

The first amendment, brought by the Board of Nursing and the Legislative Service Commission, makes several technical changes to the bill, Sen. Burke said.

The second amendment changes the time period for a dialysis technician to hold an internship from 12 months to six months before they can obtain a temporary license, he said.

HB 119 SNAP (Henne, M., McColley, R.) Regarding eligibility and benefits under the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance program and the Medicaid program. (CONTINUED (No testimony); 3rd Hearing-All testimony)

HB 50 EBT CARDS (Schaffer, T.) To establish requirements for electronic benefit transfer cards issued under the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 3rd Hearing-All testimony)

SB 102 NURSING HOME OUTBREAKS (Yuko, K.) Regarding outbreaks of Clostridium difficile in nursing homes. (CONTINUED; 3rd Hearing-All testimony)

Kathryn Brod, president and CEO of LeadingAge Ohio, said in written testimony that while outbreaks of clostridium difficile, or c-diff, warrant attention from state agencies, that oversight is already codified. Nursing homes are required to report outbreaks to the Department of Health.

"The existing requirement is more stringent than the 48-hour timeframe proposed in SB102," she wrote. "Furthermore, since November 2017, nursing homes have been required to have an Infection Prevention and Control Plan that is reviewed annually based on the facility assessment, as part of Phase Two of the implementation of Medicare's Requirements of Participation. Infection Control is now a mandatory activity for nursing homes, and their infection control plans are surveyed on an annual basis by the Ohio Department of Health." Ms. Brod said her groups members were concerned the requirements would be duplicative, adding an administrative burden without additional benefit.

SB 182

OUTDOOR DINING (Coley, B.) To generally allow an owner, keeper, or harbinger of a dog to take the dog in an outdoor dining area of a retail food establishment or food service operation. (CONTINUED-SUBSTITUTE; 3rd Hearing-All testimony-Possible amendments)

The committee accepted a substitute bill that made a number of changes, including clarifying that public health officials can restrict dogs on patios in the case of a public health outbreak, sponsor Sen. Bill Coley (R-Liberty Twp.) said.

The substitute version also makes clear that dogs must use an outside entrance to the patio or dining area, and cannot go through the restaurant, Sen. Coley said. Dogs would have to be in their owner's control at all times.

Dr. Liesa Stone, president of the Ohio Veterinary Medical Association, said the emergency authority for public health entities will keep people safe in the event of an outbreak.

Most new or emerging infectious diseases are spread from animals to humans, and while the likelihood of diseases originating on a restaurant patio is low, safeguards should be in place, she said. The Department of Health and Department of Agriculture should have the ability to temporarily restrict the presence of dogs on patios during an incident.

"This simple yet important modification gives those empowered to protect public health the tool they need to address a potential disease outbreak," she said. "Without it, human and animal health would be unjustly vulnerable to the myriad of known and yet to emerge disease risks."

Brandon Ogden, president of Small Business Consultants of Ohio, said in written testimony that legislation could boost revenue for small businesses, which are more likely to allow consumers to allow dogs in outside dining areas.

"Over the past several years, dogs have become friendly companions to millions of Ohioans, and essentially members of their families," he wrote. "Thus, it seems only suiting that consumers should be allowed to choose where they dine based on their ability to bring their dog. Further, the current version of SB182 includes various food safety provisions that will ensure all restaurant patrons have safe and enjoyable dining experiences."

SB 259

PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS (Hackett, B.) To revise the law regulating physician assistant practice. (CONTINUED (See separate story); 2nd Hearing-Proponent)

SCR 18

DISABILITIES ACT (Yuko, K.) To urge Congress to amend the Americans with Disabilities Act and adopt an international symbol of access that includes a dynamic character leaning forward with a sense of movement. (CONTINUED; 3rd Hearing-All testimony)

Katherine Foley, executive director of Services for Independent Living Inc., said in written testimony that changing the current international symbol of accessibility to a more dynamic design would help address attitudinal barriers faced by people with disabilities.

"For so long, this population has been stigmatized as one of needing help to function," she wrote. "Yes, some do, but many do not. The societal attitude of 'can't do' rather than 'can do' is one of the greatest barriers faced by the disability community. It is often assumed by the community, professionals, family and eventually the person themselves, that the individual is helpless and unable to contribute to the community."

Governor's Appointments: The committee recommended full Senate approval of the governor's appointments of Kathleen Borges and Kenneth Drude to the State Board of Psychology; Carl Brun to the Counselor, Social Worker, and Marriage and Family Therapist Board; Nancy Fellows to the Board of Nursing and Matthew Paylo, Ph.D, Counselor to the Social Worker, and Marriage and Family Therapist Board.

The committee also recommended approval of the director of health's appointments of James Adams, Chad Brown, Tonia Burford, Terri Gerhardt, Gina Nicholson Kramer and Jennifer Reed to the Sanitarian Advisory Board.

Rosenberger To Resign Speaker's Office After FBI Probe Revealed

House Speaker Cliff Rosenberger announced Tuesday he will resign his office and leave the legislature amid FBI questions into his travel and spending habits.

His departure, scheduled for May 1, was announced shortly after the House Republican Caucus met following a lengthy day of committee meetings.

"As I have said previously, I am aware of a federal inquiry being conducted regarding things I may have been involved in. First and foremost, I believe that all of my actions as Speaker have been both ethical and lawful," Mr. Rosenberger said in a statement.

Speaker Rosenberger

"However, I understand that the nature of this inquiry has the potential to be very demanding and intensive, and could take months or even years to resolve. Meanwhile, there are many important issues facing our state that deserve careful consideration and review, and Ohioans deserve elected leaders who are able to devote their full and undivided attention to these matters. I believe the institution of the Ohio House of Representatives is far more important than one person."

"Therefore, it is after much thought and contemplation that I have decided to resign as both Speaker of the Ohio House and state representative of the 91st District, effective May 1st. At that time, Speaker Pro Tempore Kirk Schuring will assume the responsibilities of the office of Speaker until a new Speaker is elected by the Ohio House," he said.

The FBI inquiry was first revealed publicly over the weekend when the Clarksville Republican told the Dayton Daily News he had hired a criminal defense attorney because the FBI had been asking questions about him. However, he also told the paper he had not been told he was under direct investigation.

His office, however, has publicly declined to comment further until the announcement was released Tuesday night. Mr. Rosenberger could preside over the House session on Wednesday afternoon.

The issues reportedly piquing the FBI's interest include Mr. Rosenberger's overseas travel, his use of campaign funds and relationships with donors and lobbyists. He came under fire last year when it was revealed that he rented a luxury downtown Columbus condo owned by GOP contributor Ginni Ragan.

Last week, Attorney General Mike DeWine discussed the issue with the speaker and suggested he resign if allegations of improprieties were true.

Governor John Kasich said Mr. Rosenberger is a friend and has been a key partner in leading the state. "I am sorry to hear this news but respect him for making a decision that he believes is right for our state and the people and institutions for which he cares deeply," the governor said in a statement. "I wish him well in the days ahead."

The 102nd Speaker of the House, Mr. Rosenberger rose to take the gavel at the age of 33 after maneuvering his way past Rep. Jim Butler (R-Oakwood) and a coalition of conservative members in 2014. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, November 12, 2014)

Prior to his legislative career, the Air Force veteran served in President George W. Bush's administration as special assistant to U.S. Secretary of Interior Dirk Kempthorne.

Mr. Rosenberger joined the House in 2011 and faces term limits this year. He briefly flirted with a run for the GOP nomination for state auditor against Rep. Keith Faber (R-Celina) before changing his mind. Suggestions that he might instead run for county commissioner also did not pan out.

"Serving the people of the 91st House District has been the greatest honor of my life, and I am truly sorry that I will not be able to fulfill the remainder of my term," Mr. Rosenberger said. "I take this step with full confidence in my ultimate vindication, but also believe this decision is what is best for my family, my constituents, the residents of the state and the Ohio House of Representatives. I have every belief that the House will continue to lead on the most important issues facing our great state and that Ohio's future remains bright."

Rep. Schuring (R-Canton) said in a statement released with the speaker's comments, "It has been an honor and privilege for me to serve with Cliff Rosenberger over the past seven years in the Ohio House. Particularly in the past three years, I believe we have worked well together to take the lead on a variety of policy issues that are critical for our state's success. That is what makes tonight's announcement so emotional."

"Though it was very difficult, I know the Speaker made the decision he felt was best for the Ohio House of Representatives. Therefore, effective May 1st, I will humbly accept the responsibilities of the office of the Speaker until the next Speaker is elected by the House," he said.

"Moving forward, my goal will be to facilitate the operations of this institution as smoothly and efficiently as possible. I will continue to work closely with our members on the legislation that is important to them and the people of Ohio."

The timing of the vote to determine who will replace Mr. Schuring as speaker could play a key role in determining future leadership of the House. Rep. Ryan Smith (R-Bidwell) and Rep. Larry Householder (R-Glenford) have been pursuing the office, and one of them - or any other member of the GOP caucus - could be elected to the post yet this year.

"I believe the speaker made the right decision for the betterment of the institution and the people of Ohio and I'm sure it was a very difficult decision," Mr. Smith said.

A vote on replacing Mr. Schuring is expected after the May primary.

The House Republican Caucus will also select a successor for Mr. Rosenberger. Beth Ellis of Sabina, who is aligned with Mr. Rosenberger, and Shane Wilkin of Hillsboro have both filed as Republicans in the 91st District. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, March 9, 2018)

House Republicans Express Concerns On Gun Bill As Kasich Urges Support

Gov. John Kasich and legislative sponsors of firearm law revisions stressed Tuesday the proposals are not aimed at confiscating guns from law abiding owners.

But some aren't buying that based on questions from Republicans on the House State & Local Government Committee and scoffs from gun owners in the audience during the House bill's first hearing.

The proposal (HB 585) would in part create a process for the issuance of gun violence protection orders, ban the purchasing of firearms for third parties, expand data-sharing between law enforcement databases, and mirror federal law in several firearm-related areas. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, April 5, 2018)

Sen. Stephanie Kunze (R-Hilliard) and Sen. John Eklund (R-Chardon) introduced their own legislation to that effect earlier this week (SB 288). Both were modeled after recommendations issued in March by a working group convened by Gov. Kasich. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, March 1, 2018)

"HB585 contains sensible changes that can make people safer, from themselves and others," Rep. Henne told the House panel (Testimony). "It is not the gun. It is the person."

HB585 will help make it harder for people who should not possess a gun to get a gun. It does not take away the guns of the responsible gun owners."

Throughout the hearing, Republicans questioned Rep. Henne on how the legislation would work in practice. The committee chair said the bill remains a work in progress.

"After this meeting we'll have some conversations with leadership and see what the plans are," Chairwoman Rep. Marlene Anielski (R-Walton Hills) said in an interview. "But several members brought up issues today that they feel should be addressed in the bill or not addressed. So we just need to talk to members of the committee to see what their feelings are."

Rep. Bill Dean (R-Xenia) likened the proposal to a "sledge hammer and taking everyone's gun rights away."

"I totally reject 'taking everybody's guns away,'" Rep. Henne replied. "That is a mischaracterization."

Much of the concern centered on the extreme risk protection order language. Under the legislation, a person could petition the court for the order but must demonstrate facts showing a significant risk and the number and locations of deadly weapons along with establishing "clear and convincing evidence" that a threat exists.

Alternately, if "significant and imminent" harm is expected, an ex parte order can be sought in which law enforcement will remove the firearms and the owner will receive a hearing to respond within 72 hours. If the petition is tossed out, the firearms are to be "immediately" returned, according to the proposal.

Minutes before the committee started, sponsors of the House and Senate bills joined Gov. Kasich for a private Statehouse meeting with Fred Guttenberg, whose 14-year-old daughter, Jamie, was one of 17 people killed during a Valentine's Day shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Fla.

"If somebody is emotionally unstable and poses a risk to themselves or others it only stands to reason that through an approach to a court that person would lose their guns," Gov. Kasich said. "That is not a violation of anybody's Second Amendment and not doing it would be a violation of people having clear thinking."

But Rep. John Becker (R-Union Twp.) questioned how that provision doesn't infringe on Second Amendment rights. He imagined a scenario in which a SWAT team kicks down the door, attempts to locate the weapons, and cuts the door off a gun safe. Who, he asked, would pay for that damage?

In those ex parte cases, Rep. Henne said, the firearm owners would wait a maximum of 72 hours for a hearing after which if the judge tosses out the petition the weapons would be returned "immediately." The sponsor did, however, express a willingness to revise the term immediately to be more specific and create language ensuring local department are responsible for damages.

Several lawmakers questioned language vising the definition of those who may not possess firearms to include those who have been convicted of a felony or domestic violence, violated a protective order or were dishonorable discharged from the military.

Rep. Henne expressed a willingness to work with colleagues to refine the bill. He said that recent discussions already revealed to him an oversight that could prohibit non-violent felons from owning weapons, which was not his original intent.

Committee members also questioned why it was necessary for other portions of the legislation that would mirror Ohio law to federal laws including the banning of armor piercing bullets. Several members asked why Ohio officers couldn't enforce those federal laws now.

"To enforce those federal laws they would have to bring in a federal agent," Rep. Henne told Rep. Jim Hoops (R-Napoleon).

Gun advocates attended the committee meeting to show their disapproval - among them a gentleman wearing a shirt featuring a vulgarity regarding gun-free zones. Chairwoman Anielski requested he cover it up after several committee members took offense.

Mr. Guttenberg, speaking to reporters after his meeting with the governor, applauded Gov. Kasich and sponsors for their work on the issue thus far.

"There are bad people in the world who want to do bad things and what the governor and everyone here is trying to do is to make it harder for those people to have access to weapons of war that could be truly devastating," Mr. Guttenberg said.

Sen. Eklund described what he witnessed after the 2012 shooting at Chardon High School that ultimately killed three students and injured others. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, February 27, 2012)

"None of you, I dare say, can imagine," Sen. Eklund said of the tragedy. "I saw what it did to that community and I'm here to tell you that reverberation continues in the hearts and minds of the people in my home town."

Sen. Kunze, a former school secretary, said lawmakers also have a responsibility to keep teachers and staff safe. "The broader conversation is how do we keep our people safe?" she said.

Asked if he believes enough Republican support exists to pass the legislation, Gov. Kasich said he's "sick and tired" of gun laws being a partisan issue.

"I'm interested in people who are objective and can be rationale as they make decisions about this or any other issue," Gov. Kasich said. "Do I think there are enough people here to pass something? I do. And the legislative schedule means nothing to me. It can always come back. ... So hopefully this can move expeditiously. If it doesn't, if it takes time, fine."

Groups Urge Passage Of Pharmacy Benefit Manager Regulation Bill

Pharmacist groups and patients urged a House panel Tuesday to pass legislation placing limits on clawback provisions and "gag orders" by pharmacy benefit managers.

The proposal (HB 479) would put in law some elements of new regulations imposed on PBMs last week by the Department of Insurance. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, April 4, 2018)

Groups told the House Government Accountability & Oversight Committee that placing limits on certain contract provisions in code, rather than relying on administrative regulations, would ensure the behavior is kept in check.

Antonio Ciaccia, director of government and public affairs for the Ohio Pharmacists Association, said the legislation would address the issue of clawbacks by pharmacy benefit managers that can lead to patients paying more than the cash price of a drug and pharmacists losing money on some transactions.

"While this issue is first and foremost a consumer transparency issue, we also have concerns with some of the possible legal ramifications of these practices," he said. "There are now more than a dozen lawsuits nationally that are aimed at these practices, and unfortunately, we have now seen pharmacies dragged into those lawsuits for their involvement. This is the unfortunate reality of largely non-negotiable contracts that pharmacies must enter into with PBMs in order to get access to their patients."

Mr. Ciaccia praised new regulations by the Department of Insurance to prohibit so-called "gag orders" on pharmacies and co-pays above the retail price of the drug but said lawmakers should make those changes permanent.

"PBM co-pay clawbacks are confusing at best, and deceptive at worst," he said. "Pharmacists should not be silent pawns in drug pricing shell games and should be free to discuss all options for the patient at the pharmacy counter - including whether or not there are ways to save money on their needed medications."

Bob Fowler, a North Ridgeville resident and cancer patient, said such business practices by pharmacy benefit managers have driven up the cost of his medications.

"This bill would protect my right to have an honest, open conversation with my pharmacist. It would protect cancer patients like myself from secretive cost sharing plans," he said. "And it will ensure that pharmacies are able to stock my medications without fear of punishment from nationwide PBMs."

Heather Free, director of pharmacy services at Equitas Health, said the legislation would protect consumers from harmful practices that would require patients to pay more than they should for drugs.

"These protections are incredibly important, and I applaud ODI's leadership on this matter," she said. "However, passing House Bill 479 is still necessary in order to ensure that PBMs cannot engage in the harmful 'clawback' practice."

John Covello, director of government relations for the Independent Pharmacy Cooperative, a national trade group representing independent pharmacy owners, said in written testimony that the state needs to place regulations on pharmacy benefit managers in law, rather than relying on agency regulations.

"IPC applauds Ohio's regulatory steps to put an end to these PBM practices that add to prescription costs and interfere with the pharmacy's ability to communicate fully with their patients about all aspects of their prescriptions, but legislation is the only permanent patient protection the Ohio Legislature can take to ensure patients not only have a 'right to know' about the real costs of prescriptions, but to allow pharmacies the legal right to best counsel their patients," he said.

New Package Of Telephone Regulations Advances, But Fails To Bridge Partisan Divide

A regulatory update sought by the telecom industry cleared a House committee Tuesday along party lines, with detractors saying the new version of the legislation doesn't go far enough to protect vulnerable consumers.

Sponsored by Rep. Brian Hill (R-Zanesville), the bill (HB 402) includes several revisions to state oversight of telephone lines, including changes to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio's rate setting processes and authority.

Industry supporters, including the Ohio Telecom Association, argue that the updates will spur more investments and boost competitiveness among telephone service providers. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, January 23, 2018)

Opponents, as they have in prior hearings on the bill, say the easing of regulations will lead to price hikes and potentially the loss of service - especially in rural parts of the state. Testimony delivered to the committee before the vote Tuesday continued along those lines despite the adoption of a substitute version that industry representatives called a result of give-and-take over several months of interested party meetings. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, February 20, 2018)

Among other changes, the new version (Comparison Document):

- Limits monthly basic local exchange service rate increases by incumbent local exchange carriers to $2 instead of 20%.
- Provides for full BLES pricing flexibility after four years with caveats, including demonstrating to the PUCO that the exchange rate is competitive and the ILEC has experienced a 50% line loss in the area since 2002.
- Mandates that BLES rate decreases not go below an ILEC's incremental cost.
- Allows the PUCO to suspend, for good cause shown, the automatic approval of an application of an ILEC to demonstrate that an exchange area is competitive.
- Requires the PUCO to approve or deny the application within 90 days after a suspension.
- Retains BLES service standards in current law.
- Changes state policy to ensuring the adequacy and reliability of BLES, where available, and the adequacy and reliability of voice service.
- Requires the PUCO to produce and docket a report on industry impacts no later than three years after the effective date of the bill.

Mary Ellen Nose, a paralegal with the Southeastern Ohio Legal Services' Athens Area Office, testified against the measure.

"My concern continues to be for those who are elderly, are low-income or on fixed incomes, as well as for rural Ohioans who live in areas where communications technology available elsewhere has not been made widely available," she told the House Public Utilities Committee. "The bill contains language that does not protect Ohioans in these technological dead zones."

"Until all Ohioans have other adequate, reliable service at a price comparable to what they now pay for basic telephone services, current protections for basic telephone service should be retained," she added.

Written opponent testimony was also submitted by a coalition including the Ohio Consumers' Counsel, Advocates for Basic Legal Equality, Ohio Poverty Law Center, Pro Seniors Inc and HARCATUS Tri-County CAO.

Following Ms. Nose's testimony, the committee broke for private caucus meetings before returning and reporting the substitute version on a 12-7 vote.

Rep. Mike Ashford (D-Toledo), the ranking minority party member of the committee, said in an interview after the hearing that his caucus was united against the bill because, despite the changes in the substitute, it would still lead to rate increases and thwart the role of the PUCO as a neutral regulatory body.

"It's an attack on our seniors and low-income people," he said. "It's just a bad bill all around."

OTA President Charles Moses said later the sub bill was the product of extensive discussions and compromise.

"We appreciate the House Public Utilities Committee passing HB402 today," he said. "We will continue to work with all the interested parties as this bill moves through the legislative process."

"Our goal continues to be to modernize the code and incent greater investment in Ohio's telecommunications networks," he added. "This is a reasonable compromise that is a result of many months of negotiations with all of those involved."

Lawmakers Add $10 Million To School Safety Bill; Measure Set For Wednesday Floor Vote

A bipartisan measure initially aimed at establishing training requirements for school resource officers moved forward Tuesday with $10 million in funding for school-safety grants.

The bill (HB 315), which received unanimous approval from the Education and Career Readiness Committee last month, initially set qualifications for police officers who work in schools and required them to complete 40 hours of specialized training.

Sponsors Sarah LaTourette (R-Chagrin Falls) and John Patterson (D-Jefferson) spoke in favor of an amendment to add $10 million in funding for school-safety grants to the legislation.

"As excited as I was to move forward with our legislation as we originally passed it, I'm even more optimistic about the positive impact the amendment you have in front of you today will make on our schools across the state," Ms. LaTourette said.

Ms. LaTourette said the grant funding could be used to pay for any training related to school safety, including certification-training for school resource officers.

Mr. Patterson echoed his colleague's comments.

"It would have been hollow to have passed the original bill without any funding attached to it," he said. "Although $10 million does not seem like much on a statewide basis, and surely we can do more in the next biennium, it is, nevertheless, a start."

Rep. Emilia Sykes (D-Akron) proposed an amendment to increase the funding for the grant program to $50 million, but it was tabled by a vote of 21-8.

"The request for the additional $40 million is because the need is so great," she said. "There are so many local governments and school districts (that) don't have the capacity to do the bare minimum."

Ms. LaTourette said she and Mr. Patterson arrived at the $10 million figure following discussions with members of the Senate.

"It's a number that I know is workable," she said. "It's a number that I know they will agree to."

The committee did accept an amendment offered proposed by Rep. Jack Cera (D-Bellaire), which would require the Ohio Facilities Construction Commission to study the "most cost-effective" ways to add security upgrades to existing school buildings. The study would be due to the governor and General Assembly by Feb. 1, 2019.

The House Finance Committee reported the measure by a vote of 27-0 after accepting the amendments regarding the $10 million in grant funding and the study.

The measure was approved after the committee heard testimony from Frank Hall, a football coach who confronted a shooter who killed three people Feb. 27, 2012 at Chardon High School.

Mr. Hall, who later founded the Coach Hall Foundation to support school safety, spoke in favor of the measure.

"I can't change the past, but we can, through this legislation make sure it is more difficult for these types of events to happen," he said. "Putting a school resource officer who is a police officer who has special training is the most important step in securing our buildings and protecting our children."

Tim Armelli, a teacher at Chardon High School and president of the Coach Hall Foundation, and the building's school resource officer, Mike Shaw, also spoke as a proponent.

Erin Davies, executive director of the Juvenile Justice Coalition, said officials with her organization hope the grant program can be used by districts to give students "increased access to social workers and mental health professionals."

"Having a strong support staff would help to identify and deescalate situations early and hopefully reduce the need for any law enforcement intervention - SRO or otherwise," she said.

House Panel Reports Broadened Mentorship Bill

A measure backed by House leadership aimed at providing mentorship opportunities for at-risk youth emerged Tuesday from the House Finance Committee with a new statewide scope.

The OhioCorps pilot program (HB 508) would allow younger students whose families have struggled with opioid addiction to partner with college-age students and potentially receive scholarship funding. The older students would receive stipends for their participation.

Prior to advancing the measure, which was slated for a full House vote on Wednesday, the committee accepted a substitute version committee that Rep. Scott Ryan (R-Newark) said removes the geographical restriction from the program.

Mr. Ryan said the substitute bill compiles previous amendments to the legislation, which initially focused on southeastern Ohio before expanding to include northeastern Ohio (See Gongwer Ohio Report, March 6, 2018) and, finally, the entire state.

The substitute bill also increases the appropriation to support the OhioCorps program from $1.5 million to $2.5 million and adds technical colleges to the list of institutions that can participate in the program, among other tweaks. (Comparison Document)

Rep. Brigid Kelly (D-Cincinnati) and Rep. Dan Ramos (D-Lorain) cast the lone votes against the legislation, citing the mismatch between the funding amount and the effort's widening scope.

"I'm worried we're not going to be spending enough to actually create change for these children who are at such risk," Mr. Ramos said.

Ms. Kelly said she views the effort as a "good start to what could be a good program," but added she shares Rep. Ramos' concerns about its funding.

Rep. Bill Reineke (R-Tiffin), who cosponsored the bill with Mr. Ryan, said he viewed moving the legislation forward as a positive step even if some questions about the pilot program's future remain unanswered.

"There (are) a lot of times the private sector could take over if there's a successful public program that's underfunded," he said.

Rep. Emilia Sykes (D-Akron) voted in favor of the measure despite concerns about the size of the initial appropriation.

"Hopefully it will, as it moves through the legislative process, become a more-robust program because the kids deserve this," she said

'Stand-Your-Ground' Bills Get Hearings In Both Chambers; New Measure Emerges

Committees in each chamber on Tuesday took up similar controversial gun bills to shift the burden of proof in self-defense cases and expand instances in which there is no duty to retreat.

A substitute version of the House bill (HB 228) offered by Rep. Derek Merrin (R-Maumee) was accepted before the House Federalism & Interstate Relations Committee adjourned without hearing testimony on the measure.

Among the changes, it limits the use of an affirmative self-defense and expands current law on unlawful transaction of a firearm, according to Rep. Merrin. (Comp doc)

It was approved in a 5-3 party-line vote, with Rep. Mike Ashford (D-Toledo) objecting to the substitute version.

"We should have had more than three minutes to look at this bill," he said, calling it "totally unfair to how the process should work."

Chairman Rep. Kristina Roegner (R-Hudson) defending the process, saying that the substitute version of the bill was adopted so that committee members will have time to review the new working version prior to the next committee hearing.

"This is to give you the time to do that," she said.

Meanwhile, the Senate version of the proposal (SB 180) was blasted in testimony provided by anti-gun violence groups, law enforcement and others.

Neil Moore of Moms Demand Action for Gun Sense in America said the legislation will effectively allow people to carry concealed handguns in public without a permit or safety training.

"The current permitting system in Ohio contains safeguards of a criminal background check and a safety training course, which assures the public that people who conceal carry are well trained on how to handle a gun, can own one legally, and can carry handguns safely," he told members of the Senate Judiciary Committee. "Ohioans trust this system."

Rosie Craig of the League of Women Voters of Ohio also raised concerns about that provision, saying it could lead to an increase in racially motivated violence.

"The lines become blurred when people exercising their First Amendment rights are threatened or intimidated by emboldened gun carriers whose perception of their Second Amendment rights allows them to express contemptuous views with a gun in hand," she said.

The panel also received written proponent testimony from Col. Paul Pride of the State Highway Patrol and representatives of the Ohio Coalition Against Gun Violence and Progress NW Ohio.

Rep. Candice Keller (R-Middletown) on Tuesday also announced the introduction of another stand-your-ground measure (HB 590).

"It is so important that we as Ohioans stand strong against the criminal element and those who would wish to take away our God-given right to protect ourselves. This law, a 'no duty to retreat' law, promotes a defendant's right to use force without retreating in order to protect and defend themselves or others against threats or perceived threats," she said in a statement.

"Every day in this country, women and children are threatened by those who would wish to abuse or harm them. The weaker and smaller can be overtaken by violent individuals who have no respect for the law or court-ordered protection papers," she said. "Under current law, if harm is done to you and you defend yourself using a firearm, you become the guilty person until proven innocent. This bill will repair these holes in present laws."

Senate Panel Installs Discount Cap, Reports ODNR Hunting, Fishing Licensing Bill

Senators on Tuesday amended legislation to expand hunting and fishing license options to include a cap on available discounts, earning several more proponents for the plan as a result.

Members of the Senate Energy & Natural Resources Committee then reported the measure from Sen. Joe Uecker (R-Loveland) and Sen. Sean O'Brien (D-Hubbard) after a number of opponent groups testified that they were switching to proponents in light of the change.

The legislation (SB 257) and a companion bill (HB 518) was unveiled by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources in March and aims to expand licensure options including by offering for the first time multi-year and lifetime licenses and packages of various types of licenses.

The amendment from Sen. Bill Beagle (R-Tipp City) caps at 5% the available discount for new multi-year licenses. Available discounts for lifetime licenses are not impacted. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, February 20, 2018)

"If we discount it too much you may end up losing money," Sen. Beagle said. "If you discount it a little you make more money by attracting more people to fishing and hunting."

The change is based on research compiled at ODNR's request by Southwick and Associates which determined a discount greater than 5% would result in a net revenue loss for the agency. The Division of Wildlife is largely self-funded through fee revenue.

Groups that were once opponents had flagged concerns, pointing to estimates showing the Division of Wildlife may face a $100 million budget shortfall within the next decade.

ODNR Assistant Director Gary Obermiller said those are questions that will face future administrations and said the amended bill will help draw new revenue and retain sportsmen and women.

"Quite honestly, these are options that should have been made available many years ago," he said. "I know there has been a lot of debate on the numbers. The numbers are what they are. It's not a silver bullet that might make or break the Division of Wildlife. Those are decisions that need to be made down the road...but this is a good step for the sportsmen of Ohio."

He said the agency hopes to make those new options available this fall if the legislation makes it through the General Assembly this spring.

Among groups who once opposed the move and are now supportive are the Ohio Sportsmen's Alliance, Ducks Unlimited and the Ohio Conservation Federation. The Boating Association of Ohio also voiced support.

Former ODNR Chief Michael Budzik highlighted the division's expected shortfall, but said he is willing to support the amended bill. Still, he cautioned lawmakers that the "luster of discounts will quickly fade away when the DOW's financial situation continues to worsen."

Matt Misicka, president of the federation, also shared his group's newfound support. "Our membership applauds the customer service aspects of this legislation and we can certainly stand alongside our colleagues...in support of the amended bill."

House Hearing: Rob Sexton of the Sportsmen's Alliance said his group supports four of the bill's provisions and doesn't object to five other changes. He said, however, the group is opposed to the pricing levels involved with making multi-year hunting and fishing licenses available.

Also speaking on behalf of the Buckeye Firearms Association, Ducks Unlimited, League of Ohio Sportsmen, Ohio Conservation Federation, Ohio State Trappers Association and other groups, Mr. Sexton said discounting the price of the licenses above 5% creates a risk of overall revenue loss for the Division of Wildlife.

The witness noted that the group would become a proponent of the bill if the panel adds the 5% discount cap amendment that was adopted in a Senate committee earlier in the day.

"The constituents in the outdoor world are asking ODNR and the General Assembly to take a conservative path on this idea," he said. "If we get this wrong, there will be little appetite from your colleagues to want to raise the prices if this produces a revenue loss. Why not listen to the people who buy the licenses? Why not listen to the expert the state of Ohio retained? With a change to a 5% license, Ohio's sportsmen and women will celebrate this bill as a progressive step toward stimulating participation in the outdoor sports, which is something we all want."

Overall, he said sportsmen are worried about the financial future of the division of wildlife, in part because the fee structure was last revised in 2004. "They are living off of a fee structure that is 14 years old," he said, adding that revenues generated as a result of a gun and ammunition sales are also falling.

Further, he said the division could also be financially stretched as it begins to manage a newly proposed state park in southeast Ohio.

Responding to Rep. Scott Wiggam (R-Wooster), Mr. Sexton said sportsmen's groups are unanimous that the license fee structure for Ohio residents needs to be updated, and said the organizations will be pushing for that change in the next budget process.

Chair Rep. Al Landis (R-Dover) said Rep. Andy Thompson (R-Marietta) will be proposing the amendment to establish the discount cap, and added that the document will be circulated to members later in the week.

Bill Ebert of Ducks Unlimited offered similar thoughts, saying that the 12%-14% discounts that are being proposed could wind up reducing the funds available for wildlife conservation.

"I have been a business owner for over thirty years," he said. "I am acutely aware of while being as competitive as possible, there is a bottom line that has to be achieved." Rather than offering the larger discounts, he said the reductions should not exceed 5% to make sure the Division of Wildlife has the ability to perform its duties.

Bryan Ralston, executive director of the Boating Associations of Ohio and president of the Lake Erie Marine Trades Association, also offered written proponent testimony, saying the bill creates common-sense updates to the fee structure. He said the group specifically backs sections that allow the issuance of 12-month fishing licenses, rather than having all licenses expire at the same time regardless of when they were issued.

He also supported a section that requires Lake Erie stamps for non-Ohio residents who walleye fish the lake and tributaries between January and April. The funding from the stamps, he said, would directly support Lake Erie initiatives.

Physician Assistants Back Streamlining Practice Regulations

A group representing physician assistants urged a Senate panel Tuesday to back a proposal adjusting regulations that would allow them to work more broadly within their scope of practice.

The measure (SB 259) is designed to streamline procedures for physician assistants and make it easier for them to work as part of medical teams, supporters told the Senate Health, Human Services & Medicaid Committee.

Josanne Pagel, government affairs director for the Ohio Association of Physician Assistants, said the proposal would improve the administrative procedures for PAs and ensure they can act to the full extent of their licensure and training.

The legislation would increase the ratio of physician assistants supervised by a physician at any one time from three to five and smooth the process for PAs who move to Ohio from other states, she said. It would also allow PAs and physicians to collaborate on the best treatment and medication for patients, including enabling PAs to perform rapid intubation and procedural sedation in a facility.

"PAs are currently permitted and privileged to perform intubation," Ms. Pagel said. "To be able to do so in life threatening situations, they must be able to order and perform procedural sedation. In fact, procedural sedation is a critical component to modern health care in a hospital setting and it will benefit overall patient care to allow PAs to perform this procedure."

The measure would require PAs to be credentialed and privileged according to Joint Commission standards and hospital policy, along with proctored training in the facility, she said. It would also limit where a PA can perform procedural sedation to within a hospital setting.

Ms. Pagel told Sen. Peggy Lehner (R-Kettering) the procedural sedation and rapid intubation would only be allowed in specific emergency situations. The procedure would be needed for someone who is in respiratory distress and who cannot wait for another provider to give the service, Ms. Pagel said.

Sen. Vernon Sykes (D-Akron) asked how the number of PAs a physician can supervise was determined.

Most states allow the physician to determine how many they want to supervise, and the association determined 5-to-1 was a good number for Ohio based on a review of patient outcomes, Ms. Pagel said.

"We wanted to give the opportunity for health systems across Ohio, should they need it in their practice, at the will of the physician, to go up to five," she said.

Ms. Pagel told Sen. Bob Hackett (R-London) that the bill would still allow PAs to delegate the administration of medication as long as they are allowed to prescribe that medication.

Dr. Jonathan Leizman, medical director for Cleveland Clinic At Work, which runs 10 employee health clinics for Ohio employers, said physicians serve as the leaders of care teams that include nurses, physician assistants and others.

"It is our belief that physician assistants should practice within their competencies, to the extent that their licensure allows, and under appropriate supervision," he said.

He expressed support for the proposal, which would help the clinic and other providers build on their team-based model by employing physician assistants to work as part of that team.

Opponents Say 'Sexting' Bill Is Unnecessary

The state's prosecutors and the ACLU of Ohio were on the same page Tuesday in opposing a "sexting" bill.

Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys Association Executive Director Lou Tobin told members of the House Criminal Justice Committee that prosecutors already regularly seek diversion of juveniles engaged in sexting.

Mr. Tobin also said the bill (HB 355) could essentially handcuff the state's prosecutors.

"Our great concern with House Bill 355 then is that a court of appeals will find that the new prohibition on possession or distribution of 'sexually explicit digital material' covers essentially the same conduct as pandering obscenity involving a minor, pandering sexually oriented material involving a minor or the illegal use of a minor in nudity-oriented material."

He also said that sexting is not always a victimless crime.

"I say this only to point out that for every high-profile case about the negative effects on someone accused of sexting, there is an equally sad story about a victim whose life was irreparably changed," he said.

Gary Daniels, chief lobbyist for the ACLU of Ohio, said the legislation creates a brand new criminal offense despite prosecutors and judges already have options for serious charges in cases of sexting.

He called the measure "counterproductive and unnecessary."

"Indeed, this bill in no way requires prosecutors to utilize this new misdemeanor offense or judges to sentence young people to only community service," he said. "It only gives them that option."

In that vein, Mr. Daniels called on the panel to scrap the measure.

"It creates additional problems with no guarantee it will solve any," he said. "It involves government in numerous, unwelcome instances. The ACLU of Ohio urges rejection of this well-meaning but misguided and harmful legislation."

Erin Davies, executive director of the Juvenile Justice Coalition, testified as an interested party but raised a host of concerns with the bill, including the fact that it does not take into account that Ohio law allows youth to consent to sexual activity at 16.

She also said the bill is a one-size-fits-all approach that lacks prevention and education and allows for double charging.

"JJC acknowledges the changing landscape of technology and appreciates the legislature acknowledging this shifting ground. However, we are concerned that the approach taken by the bill may over-criminalize relatively typical, age appropriate sexual exploration between adolescents that becomes amplified by advances in technology," she said.

"We must have a response that strikes a balance that leaves room for youth to learn and make mistakes while being held accountable for their actions; however, this accountability does not necessarily have to come through the court system."

Lawmaker Pushes For New Report-Card System

Rep. Mike Duffey (R-Worthington) on Tuesday delivered a blunt assessment of the state's A-F report card system for school districts.

"Nobody likes the current Ohio school district report card," he said during an informal hearing on a new proposal of his (HB 591) to revise the system.

Mr. Duffey pointed to his home district, the Worthington City School District, in his criticism of the existing system. Worthington schools received C's in four of six graded categories on its most recent report card, which Mr. Duffey said does not accurately reflect the district's relatively high overall performance.

Mr. Duffey said a report card system that gives low letter grades to high-performing districts could be confusing or discouraging to people looking to move to Ohio.

"We're sending them bad signals about what's going on in our school districts right now," he told the House Education & Career Readiness Committee.

Mr. Duffey said he prefers a "dashboard" of comprehensible information about a district as opposed to the existing letter system. He said an ideal system would allow for an apples-to-apples comparison of districts, while presenting information comprehensible to the public.

"Everyone can see the methodology and everyone can understand the methodology because it's not overly complex," he said.

Rep. Teresa Fedor (D-Toledo) said the sponsor "laid out a great case" for the measure, but asked what would happen to state accountability standards for districts that are based on the existing system.

Mr. Duffey said he viewed the topic as a "related but separate discussion."

"When you change the report card, you have to figure out how you're going to map the accountability triggers that exist in Ohio law," he said.

Rep. Catherine Ingram (D-Cincinnati) asked Mr. Duffey what effect the new system would have on districts with a high percentage of underprivileged students.

The sponsor said he thinks the change would benefit high-poverty districts by eliminating pass-fail style metrics and more accurately reflecting their performances.

"The reform in the report card would be hugely advantageous for districts with high poverty," he said.

Mr. Duffey said conversations with officials at statewide education associations regarding the change have been positive.

"The big three have been eager to pass something like this this year," he said.

Opposition To Small Cell Wireless Bill Softens Following Senate Changes

Wireless provider Crown Castle dropped its opposition to legislation to expand small-cell wireless deployment following Tuesday's adoption of substitute language by the Senate Public Utilities Committee.

Crown Castle last month threatened to sue to halt the implementation of the bill, which is a compromise on 5G deployment in public rights-of-way reached following months of talks between wireless providers and municipalities. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, March 22, 2018)

The company claimed the legislation - backed by entities including the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Mayor's Alliance, the Municipal League and Verizon - would violate the federal Communications Act and limit the ability of it and its competitors to expand their business in Ohio. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, March 15, 2018)

The sub bill (HB 478) makes three major changes that were hammered out during recent talks between senators and Crown Castle in an effort to earn support. Those changes include:

- Clarifying the definition of a small cell facility operator.
- Requiring a city to include on the license and on an application a line for the disclosure of who will own the facility or support structure.
- Ensuring an organization that does not meet the definition of an operator may still request a municipalities consent to collocate a small cell facility or build a wireless support structure or alter an already existing one.

Chairman Sen. Bill Beagle (R-Tipp City) said the legislation could be put to a vote as early as Wednesday, teeing it up for potential consideration on the Senate floor later that day.

In an April 9 letter to Senate President Larry Obhof (R-Medina) and Sen. Beagle, Crown Castle government relations manager Paul Gilbert thanked lawmakers for considering their concerns.

"While we feel the final product leaves issues on the table for possible future discussion, the amendments agreed to by the committee and the coalition of municipalities take us farther toward addressing our immediate business concerns," Mr. Gilbert wrote.

Haran Rashes, external relations director for ExteNet Systems Inc., testified that the group's concerns are also resolved thanks to the substitute version.

"With the amendments, Ohio can benefit from infrastructure improvement which are funded and build by private entities such as ExteNet," Mr. Rashes said.

But Dave George, market director for Columbus-based CNX, voiced his continued opposition to the plan. He said the expansion of small cell technology will compromise community aesthetics, increase revenue streams for the industry at the expense of Ohio cities, and result in more abandoned wireless facilities.

He also questioned proponent claims that 5G technology will bypass Ohio for other states without the legislation.

"In their opposition testimony two weeks ago, Crown Castle stated that they had already deployed 910 sites in Ohio," Mr. George said. "Anecdotal evidence from similar providers like Crown Castle is that those companies are also investing in the deployment of small cell locations throughout Ohio. These types of deployments are occurring despite the fact that there is no small cell legislation in current effect in Ohio."

Lastly, the committee heard from citizen Kathy Dirr who urged lawmakers to place a moratorium on small cell antennas which she said emit radiation causing cancer and other ill effects.

Advocates: SNAP Photo ID Law Would Hinder Food Access, Have Little Effect On Fraud

A legislative proposal to require photos on electronic benefit transfer cards in an effort to reduce food assistance fraud would be costly to the state and have little effect on bad actors, advocacy groups told senators Tuesday.

Outcomes in other states indicate the plan (HB 50) would likely cause people to be unfairly denied purchases due to confusion about the policy, they told the Senate Health, Human Services & Medicaid Committee.

Lisa Hamler-Fugitt, executive director of the Ohio Association of Foodbanks, said the legislation does not meet federal requirements. Those include providing an accommodation for those with an undue hardship, such as caretakers of household members, residents of rural areas, or the homeless, she said.

"The point I hope you take away from this is that the EBT photograph requirement is more nuanced than has been previously articulated, and the bill as drafted fails to adhere to federal regulatory requirements," she said.

When a similar program was implemented in Massachusetts, it led to startup costs of about $8.4 million and about $400,000 in annual costs of notices to clients, she said.

"While this bill is purported to 'deter and detect crime,' in all actuality, House Bill 50 will not be a deterrent for fraudulent activity when those who are willing to engage in trafficking are in collusion, and thus complicit, in this crime," she said. "What it will do is deter hungry low-income families from applying for, or from retaining the benefits they are eligible to receive."

That's in contrast to claims by proponents and sponsors who argue the legislation would protect the integrity of the SNAP system. (See Gongwer Ohio Report, January 23, 2018)

Ms. Hamler-Fugitt told Sen. Matt Huffman (R-Lima) that she believed the program will cost more money than the annual $1 million -3 million estimated by the Legislative Service Commission based on the program in Massachusetts.

She said she believed the photo requirement is unnecessary and "in search of a problem that does not exist," but could have a chilling and discriminatory effect on recipients.

Graham Bowman, staff attorney with the Ohio Poverty Law Center, said the legislation will cause confusion and longer lines for retailers, and would also cost time and resources to implement. He agreed it would be ineffective at reducing fraud.

In other states, problems with retailers denying purchases because the buyer's photo was not on the card, despite requirements that they not do so, led to retailers ignoring the photos on the cards altogether, he said.

"If HB50 becomes law, we anticipate that legal aid organizations throughout the state will experience an influx of SNAP cases where recipients were improperly denied use of their SNAP benefits at retailers who misunderstood the rules of the SNAP program," he said.

Joel Potts, executive director of the Ohio Job and Family Services Directors' Association, said the state is already effective at detecting and dealing with fraud in the SNAP program.

"Despite no dedicated funding source for county agencies, Ohio is one of the leading states in the country in identifying fraud and collections," he said. "Fraud and abuse investigations can be extremely complex, involving local law enforcement, as well as require prosecutor and court actions."

The legislation poses a variety of concerns regarding implementation, Mr. Potts said. County JFS agencies don't have photo equipment and being able to use photos from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles would not be helpful for all SNAP enrollees.

Brie Lusheck, public policy associate at the Center for Community Solutions, suggested more emphasis should be placed on outreach to SNAP-eligible Ohioans who are not enrolled and could benefit.

"SNAP also plays an important role in reducing senior hunger and improving senior health," she said. "Research has shown that older adults enrolled in Medicaid, who also receive SNAP, are less likely to be hospitalized or admitted to a nursing home, significantly reducing health care spending and helping older adults age in place. However, our research found that 60 percent of older Ohioans who are eligible for SNAP are not enrolled in the program."

Proponents Tout Benefits Of Bill Designed To Increase Judicial Discretion

Leaders of the state's prison system and a judicial group on Tuesday went to bat for legislation designed to create more judicial discretion in dealing with convicted felons.

Department of Rehabilitation and Correction Director Gary Mohr said one of the most important provisions in the measure (SB 66) adds "promoting the effective rehabilitation of the offender" to the purpose of felony sentencing.

He also spoke highly of expanding intervention in lieu of conviction and record sealing.

"Upon release, it is ideal that a returning citizen is able to get a job, contribute to the tax base, and become a contributing member of the community. But for too many returned citizens, their criminal records make it difficult to find work," he told members of the House Criminal Justice Committee.

"They are unable to provide for their families, they become homeless, reliant on public assistance or end up reoffending and sent back behind bars. This is not the way to reduce crime and recidivism in Ohio."

But Rep. Dorothy Pelanda (R-Marysville) questioned if the bill strikes the right balance between public safety and rehabilitation.

Mr. Mohr said he believes it does and that is why violent and sexual offenses are excluded. "I think our best decisions are the ones when we look individually at people," he said.

Paul Pfeifer, executive director of the Ohio Judicial Conference, said much the same in proponent testimony.

"These changes, in aggregate, provide for courts and for probation departments a greater level of control over the use of limited resources," he said. "Judges are in the best position to determine what sanction or sanctions an offender needs and how long those sanctions should be in place, and this bill allows judges more options in making these decisions."

Wendy Tarr of the Vincentian Ohio Action Network said the measure will allow those who previously made mistakes to improve their lives.

"If we are going to make significant headway in reducing our prison population and helping people more effectively reintegrate, we also need to be looking at provisions that address root causes and expand sealing options also for those with more serious felony convictions," she said.

"I believe that granting judges more discretion in sentencing, diversion options, and record sealing on a case by case basis for all individuals who do not pose a serious ongoing threat to society will help achieve one of the stated goals of rehabilitation being a purpose for a felony conviction."

Mike Randle, president of the Ohio Community Corrections Association, said the measure will "increase treatment options, reduce recidivism, and allow Ohio's overcrowded prisons to focus on those who pose the greatest threat to public safety."

The panel also received written proponent testimony from Jimmy and Dee Haslam and the Justice Action Network.

Trump Nominates Two Ohioans For Federal Judgeships

The leader of Ohio's workers' compensation system is among two judicial nominees from the state announced Tuesday by President Donald Trump.

The White House reported that Bureau of Workers' Compensation Administrator/CEO Sarah Morrison and Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge Pamela Barker and have been nominated to serve as federal district court judges.

Ms. Morrison, who holds a law degree from Capital University, has led the BWC since May 2016 after joining the bureau in November 2012. Prior to that, she was a partner at Taft Stettinius & Hollister, LLP in Columbus.

She was recommended for a seat on the bench by U.S. Sen. Rob Portman (R-Terrace Park) and U.S. Sen. Sherrod Brown (D-Cleveland). (See Gongwer Ohio Report, September 29, 2017)

Ms. Morrison was nominated to serve on the District Court of the Southern District of Ohio. Judge Barker has been tapped to sit on the bench in the District Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

"I am honored to be nominated for the position of federal district judge, and I sincerely appreciate the support of Senators Portman and Brown," Ms. Morrison said in a statement.

Both Ohio senators in statements applauded the nominations.

"Administrator Morrison enjoys widespread support because of her significant experience in both the public and private sectors, including her time as CEO of Ohio's Bureau of Workers Compensation. She will make Ohio proud in this new role," Sen. Portman said.

Added Sen. Brown: "Sarah Morrison is a seasoned lawyer and public servant who has what it takes to serve Ohio's Southern District. She brings a broad range of legal experience to the table, which will help her tackle the issues she will face as a judge. I'm pleased to join Senator Portman in supporting her nomination."

Judge Barker has served in the Cuyahoga County court for the past seven years. Prior to winning election to the common pleas court, she served as a magistrate and juvenile diversion magistrate in the Brecksville Mayor's Court for 11 years. She earned her law degree from Ohio State University.

The judge said in a statement she is "honored and humbled" by the nomination.

"I would like to thank President Trump, Senator Portman, and Senator Brown for the confidence and trust they have placed in me to fulfill this very important role," Judge Barker added.

Sen. Portman said she is "prepared to hit the ground running and honorably serve the people of Ohio."

"She has the necessary experience and sound judgement to be a great federal judge and will make Ohio proud in this new role," he said.

Sen. Brown said she "will bring the right combination of experience, commitment and talent" to the court.
